

To accomplish meaningful change and reform we must:

- Convince ourselves and others that:
 - Change and reform are urgently needed
 - There is an abundance in the world
 - We will succeed.

Work together better

- Outline our agenda in one place:
 - Bold Goals
 - Concerns and challenges that stand in the way of reaching these goals
 - General underlying causes of these concerns and challenges
 - Actions required to overcome the concerns and challenges, correct the underlying causes and obtain stated goals.

- Build a nationwide matrix organization of NGO's and individuals by subject matter and Zip Code.

Send comprehensive letters of demand to senior public servants requiring that they accomplish the salient actions listed on the reverse or step down.

I am an honors graduate of the Naval Academy and made 15 nuclear submarine patrols during the Cold and Vietnam Wars. My awards include the Legion of Merit and Vietnam Service Medal. The last submarine I served on could have single-handedly destroyed over a hundred medium-sized cities and killed millions of civilians in a very few minutes. If we had used those missiles, I would be a war criminal.

I've changed -- so must our public servants.
